MOTORS LEAD

Motor issues led the 1959 edvance as they did the year before. The two top places in volume again went to American Motors (which was 49th in 90 1958) and to Studebaker-Packard (which was 43rd) General Motors drew up to 5th 25 place and Ford to 10th. Chrysler 800 at 32.50 did not show in the top 25 issues.

Some of the oils, notably Standard Oil (NJ) and Royal actives. Oil shares retreated in 1959. Electronics made up o 500 @ 14.40 and late in the year scored some 1000 @ 14.00 wide gains. Leading steels were included in the top 25-volume 80 @ 15.30 group but did little in price movement, due to the 116-day steel strike.

Issues to show decline along Industry, with the oils included coppers, sugars, containers, some aircrafts, rails and utilities. Biggest gainers in addition to the electronies included the makers of rocket fuels, drugs and tyres. The chemicals did well.

New Departure in Cargo Explained Design

Two years ago, Stothert and Pitt of Bath started work on a new project. This was a crane with clean lines and reduced weight, simple to operate and maintain, and well suited (with little modification) to the requirements of most users. The price had to be kept as low as possible but the crane had to follow British Standards Specifications.

The result of all this is their dockside crane which can lift 5 tons at 80 ft. radius (or as an New Plastic Finish alternative, 6 tons at 70 ft. radius).

WHERE do the separates designers get their biggest inspiration? This year, more than ever before, the answer is: the ski-slopes of Europe. But for this exhibarating sport, stay-at-home women who never leave the shires all winter might still be crouching over their log fires in pastel twin-sets and muted tweeds. Separates might still mean a blouse and a good calf belt and a skirt; trousers for women might still be a pair of sturdy slacks for sloshing through the fields. Almost all the zing and colour and comfort of separates today started on the mountains. And when you come to think of it — it's natural.

When you've been skiing all day and inhaling powerful mountain air, you don't want to come back to your hotel and step into a constricting fitted dress and tectery court shoes. So you idle over drinks in sloppy sweaters, easy lounging pants and soft kid bootees. When you're dazzled by snow and tanned by sun all day long, your idea of colour isn't an offheat range of subtle browns and thin beiges and clerical greys. It's a good strong dore of scarlet, high-voltage blue, zippy greens and oranges and yellows

Young blood

TEVER before was there so much young blood going into the fashion business. Some of the top couturiers in Paris are lean young men in their late twenties or early thirties. The most avant-garde dress shop in London — Chelsen's Bazzar-is run by a couple in their late twenties.

Lanvin - Castillo, until last beason, employed 21-year-old Graham Smith to make hate for his shows, and young students fresh from the Royal College of Art are being anapped up by wholesale houses all over town.

I met two of these promising ew designers this week. One is Swiss-born Marlotto Dactwyler who runs her own salon in Chelsea with a staff of seven (though she did everything herself until two months ago). She arrived in England two years ago, did dressmaking for friends and liked it so much that she took to it seriously. Champions Gain Two Points In An Entertaining Game

I. M. MacTAVISH

This first division league match between South China and Kowloon Motor Bus yesterday was a fine entertaining game of football. Both sides played with commendable enthusiasm and if the final result was just right . . . might, quite easily, have been very different.

When Mr Douglas blew his whistle to signify that time was up the big scoreboard at the far end of the Hongkong Stadium KMB . . . 1, South China 3; but I could not help thinking back to an incident which happened in the 67th minute and wondering just what a few inches of timber had meant to the South China victory.

It came about like this. The teams were level at one-all and the Busmen were still more than holding their own against a hard-working but for from polished South China side. A long crossield pass from Leung Kit started a swift KMB attack on the left wing. Leung Kun, the Busmen's much improved winger, waitzed round Lau Chi-ping as he had already | ment when South China scored done so many times and swept time ball goalwards. It got a | that he was annoying his colfeet of newcomer Luk Man-wai | monstrating after every incident who was racing into the penalty | which took place near his goal.

The tall winger hit it tiest time and the ball ilashed through a forest of legs towards the South China goal. Chow Shlu-hung-were the upright and rebounded to very quiet game. safety.

a grand shot. The South China 'contain' the opposition until defence was beaten all ends up the right moment came to and if the ball had gone into the strike. They had their unxious net and put the Businen into the moments for veteran Pau served I think the 25,000 fans would have seen a very different result. But that is football and the South China boys showed their appreciation of this let-off by slowly and surely taking over the initiative and going on to

How refreshing it was to see the KMB side once again showing the verve and spirit which was once the very essence of their play. They had to go into this vital game without two of their established stars but they made light of the handicap. Chow Shiu-hung was the life and soul of the side and the erstwhile winger has seldem played a more profitable game. He worked tremendously hard. It was no fault of his that the points did not cross the harbour for not only did he do his own part very well but he also encouraged young Luk Man-wai by nursing him through the early part of the game when the winger might have taken stage fright.

But there were still weak links in the side. Young Kwokkit failed completely to dominate the proceedings as a successful wing-half must do. He threw a lot of unnecessary work onto Lo Kwok-leung and while full-back strove manfully to do | real beauty it was. two men's share he did so only at the expense of the close marking which he should have Kit intercepted a bad South accorded to sprightly Wong China pass and flicked the ball Chi-keung and, significantly, between two opponents to Chow the winger got two vital match- | Shlu-hung. Indians Unlucky To Lose 6-7 To Dodgers In Extended Game

By OLLY VAS

There was not much to cheer about in the week's softball matches at King's Park.

The Squaws played truant and gave a walk-over to the Torcros in the Ladies' league. In the Senior League the Braves stayed closely on the heels of the league-leading Cheyennes by beating the Pandas 8-5.

There were some close finishes seen in the Junior section. The Cheyennes bowed to the Giants 4-5, the Austers lost their ninth straight game when they were trounced 4-16 by the Cardinals and the Indians were a little unlucky to lose to the Dodgers by 7-6 in an extended game. The Pandas beat the New Asia College boys 15-5.

Having defeated the Hongkong Selection on Saturday afternoon after an exciting match by 26 points (four goals, two tries) to 9 points (one try, two penalty goals) in which the local players never gave up trying, the Singapore Combined Services face their major test when at 7.15 tonight they play the full Colony side on the Club ground under floodlight.

Although this was not the full Singapore side with stars such as Ashion, Jeans and Folcy missing, it was still a strong side, and the local team did extremely well to hold them for as long as they of Singapore's did. Ten points were scored only in the final five minutes of the ramë. The Hongkong pack proved a tower of strength with Simpson winning the strike most of the time, and Hongkong getting an equal share of the ball in the lincouts.

But though Tancock and Hurst, the two halves, had an excellent, steady game, threes behind them did not settle down until it was too late, with Brown having his worst gaine on record.

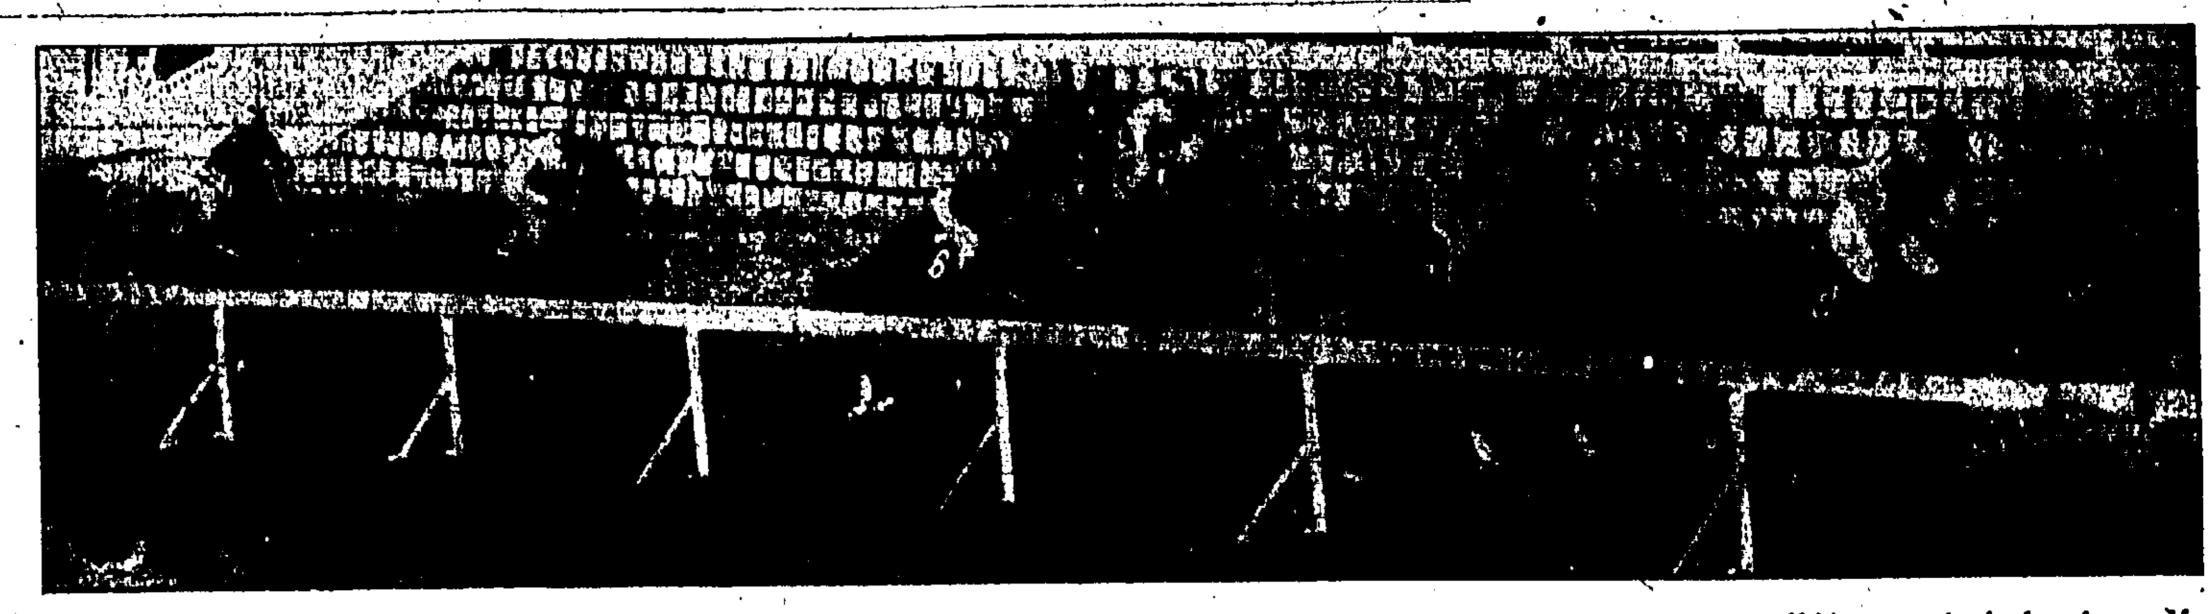

Boyes had a grand game in the centre, with only a few minor errors, but Gartland and Brooks could not sottle with him until late in the game.

Behind them stood Hobbs, on the full brunt of the defence. He proved more to the strain and than equal six of Hongkong's also scored points with his place-kicking. Had it not been for Hobbs the score would have never ceased mounting, but he managed to be everywhere, even at one point stopping two players' at tempt to seissor the ball with a smother tackle, until his threes could get back to cover.
